

British Values

This statement explains how Thornaby Church of England Primary School addresses the important role that British values can play in education. British values are promoted in much of what we do, during school assemblies, Religious Education, Personal, Social and Health Education (PSHE) sessions. The values are also integral to our Christian vision and values.

As well as actively promoting British values, the opposite also applies: we would actively challenge pupils, staff or parents expressing opinions contrary to fundamental British values, including 'extremist' views.

The British values we espouse are not unique to Britain. We acknowledge that they differ in no way from the values of the many countries and the cultural backgrounds.

Below are just a few examples of how we promote British values. The first section is a general overview; the others are specific expectations set out by Ofsted.

Being part of Britain

As a school, we value and celebrate the heritages of everybody at Thornaby Church of England Primary School. Alongside this, we value and celebrate being part of Britain. In general terms, this means that we celebrate traditions and customs in the course of the year; for example, Harvest Festival during the autumn term and performances and pantomimes at Christmas. We also value and celebrate national events, a recent example being the 100th anniversary of the start of World War One, Rugby World Cup with a joint Y6 performance with other primary schools.

Further, children learn about being part of Britain from different perspectives. Two specific examples of when we teach about being part of Britain are:

Geographically: Our 'Flow', 'Land Ahoy' and 'Misty mountains' topics ensure that children have a better understanding of what Britain is, learning more about:

- its coasts, rivers and mountains
- where Britain is in relation to the rest of Europe and other countries in the world

Historically: Key moments in British history and significant historical figures are studied in the topics such as 'Bright Lights Big City' '1066' and 'Peasants, princes and pestilence'.

Democracy

Children, parents and staff have many opportunities for their voices to be heard at Thornaby Church of England Primary School. Democracy is central to how we operate.

An obvious example is our School Council. The election of the School Council members reflects our British electoral system and demonstrates democracy in action: candidates make speeches, pupils consider characteristics important for an elected representative, pupils vote in secret using ballot boxes etc. Made up of two representatives from each class in KS2, the School Council meets regularly to discuss issues raised by the different classes. The children are actively involved in recruitment providing feedback from lessons taught by prospective teachers.

Another example of 'pupil voice' is:

- children carry out walkthroughs with Senior Leaders and Governors to reflect on the environment; are asked to respond and reflect on the teaching and learning they receive; as well as make suggestions for the School Council to consider.

Pupils are always listened to by adults and are taught to listen carefully and with concern to each other, respecting the right of every individual to have their opinions and voices heard. We encourage pupils to take ownership of not only their school but also of their own learning and progress through Assertive Mentoring. This encourages a heightened sense of both personal and social responsibility and is demonstrated on a daily basis by our pupils.

Parents' opinions are welcomed at Thornaby Church of England Primary through methods such as questionnaires, surveys at parents' evenings, opportunities to comment on monthly newsletters, daily opportunities to discuss with PSA and Pastoral Lead as well as through the PTFA.

Rules and Laws

The importance of rules and laws, whether they be those that govern our school or our country, are referred to and reinforced often, such as in assemblies and when reflecting on behaviour choices. At the start of the school year, each class discusses the school golden rules and class routines, principles that are clearly understood by all and seen to be necessary to ensure that every class member is able to learn in a safe and ordered environment.

Pupils are taught the value and reasons behind laws, that they govern and protect us, the responsibilities that this involves, and the consequences when laws are broken. These values are reinforced in different ways:

- visits from authorities such as the police and fire service
- Neighbourhood Watch monthly group learn about antisocial behaviour etc
- during Religious Education, when rules for particular faiths are thought about
- during other school subjects, where there is respect and appreciation for different rules

Individual Liberty

Alongside rules and laws, we promote freedom of choice and the right to respectfully express views and beliefs. Through the provision of a safe, supportive environment, we provide boundaries for our pupils to make choices safely; for example:

- choices about what learning challenge or activity
- choices about how they record their learning
- choices around the participation in extra-curricular activities
- choices around Friday enrichment activities

Our pupils are encouraged to know, understand and exercise their rights and personal freedoms and are taught how to exercise these safely, such as in our PSHE lessons.

Mutual respect and tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs

Our central aim that 'With God's help, we work together to enrich learning, enhance life and build a future of hope for everyone' drives us towards ensuring that our pupils are able to live and work alongside people from all backgrounds and cultures. Tolerance, politeness and mutual respect are at the heart of our aims and ethos. This will be particularly necessary in a future where due to technological advances will make the 'world a smaller place.'

Our pupils know and understand that it is expected that respect is shown to everyone and to everything, whatever differences we may have. Children learn that their behaviour choices have an effect on their own rights and those of others. All members of the school community are encouraged to treat each other with respect.

Specific examples of how we at Thornaby Church of England Primary School enhance pupils' understanding and respect for different faiths and beliefs are:

- through Religious Education, PSHE, Understanding of the World and other lessons where we develop awareness and appreciation of other cultures - in English through fiction and in art and music by considering cultures from other parts of the world.

- celebrating cultural differences through assemblies, themed weeks, noticeboards and displays.

- visiting places of other faiths and through outside speakers/visitors from other faiths.

Whilst instances contrary to our values are relatively rare, no school can guarantee that there will never be instances which are contrary to our values. Each is treated seriously in line with our policies and expectations.
